

Garden of Eden
It's the Place
Where You Live

Last Tuesday the congress heard a proposal that America restore Iraq's Garden of Eden, but I submit to you the suggestion that it Iraq has as much trouble getting its "out of America to rebuild its Garden as we in Hempstead county are having in order merely to regain possession of our own farmland in the Southwestern Proving Ground then it would be wise for Iraq to forget the whole business. For the real Garden of Eden is the place where you live, and first claim against any government is held by its own people—particularly when the government came and condemned their land for a national emergency.

Currently our Hempstead county folks were getting along all right with the federal government until the State of Arkansas, which hasn't enough money to fix up even its highways, interfered with the ludicrous proposal to convert farmland into a state park.

Yesterday you read on this page the statement of the Hope Real Estate Board that the SPG area contains some of the best farmland in Hempstead county, not more so than elsewhere. Fortunately we got a "good news" "play" on this, this morning, the Associated Press carrying it in all the morning papers of our section. But it is a fight that we will have to keep at everlastingly.

I think it is pertinent to recall what was public information at the time the federal government started its SPG condemnation here in 1941. Objection was raised that the 50,000 acres sought by the government included some of the best farmland in the county. Why couldn't the War Department take some of our poorer land? But we were told at that time that the military men required blackland because it was easier to recover shell fragments for study in blackland than in sandyland where pieces are easily lost. So the government took good farmland, knowing at the time what it was doing.

And here is an acknowledgment from the House Chamber of Commerce: Editor The Star: "The Chamber of Commerce may I extend to you and your paper the thanks of this organization for the splendid publicity and cooperation afforded the efforts of our citizens in their fight to persuade the State of Arkansas to withdraw its claim on the range area of the Southwestern Proving Ground. The press is a powerful influence upon public thinking and public action. We appreciate your fine cooperation and your untiring efforts in this matter. Very truly yours, HOPE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE George W. Peck, President Feb. 26, 1948 Hope, Ark.

Right, but still "wrong". There is nothing new in the Soviet government's efforts to remove all western influence from Russian minds. Every so often we read that an author, playwright, composer or other artist has been "deprived" or "worse" for succumbing to "bourgeois" influences. But now these efforts have been extended into a less familiar field, and one that concerns the western nations more closely. According to Will Lissner, a New York Times reporter, the Soviet Union's ace communist is now in the doghouse. The reasons are interesting, but not very encouraging.

The economist is Dr. Eugen Varga, a Hungarian-born Marxist who has lived in Russia since 1919. He is the Premier Stalin's personal economic adviser during the war. Before that he had been the Communist International's economic expert. The account of his fall from grace was found in official Soviet publications which recently came into Mr. Lissner's possession.

Dr. Varga's principal sin, it seems, was his conclusion that a crisis was not imminent in capitalist countries; that there was no economic reason for a struggle between Russian communism and western capitalism, and that Russia's economic development depended more on the western nations than on the new satellite states. The economist arrived at these conclusions after a tour of the United States.

Newsprint Price Advances to New High, $100 a Ton

A telegram to The Star this morning advised that a 58-per-cent increase in the price of newsprint has been posted effective March 1. This makes the new price $100 a ton in carload lots, the cheapest quotation available to any newspaper.

The Star buys in carload lots from Southland Mills, Lufkin, Texas.

Before the war the bottom price for newsprint was $39 a ton for foreign (Norway, Finland, Sweden) and $41 for domestic (U.S. and Canada).

Reds Sworn in Reluctantly By Ousted Premier

By A. I. GOLDBERG
Prague, Feb. 27 —(AP)—President Eduard Benes today swore in a new government headed by communists—a cabinet he is reported to have said "could have only evil results."

The frail, weary president received Communist Premier Klement Gottwald and the 12 new members of the cabinet at the presidential palace and told them "the decision to accept you was difficult personally for me."

The meeting was polite and stiffly formal. As the president spoke, communists throughout the country were going ahead with their determination to reorganize the country's entire industrial, educational and everyday life.

A presidential secretary said Benes has not resigned, but declined to make any further comment for the time being.

The Ministry of Interior ordered Communist-inspired action committees to fill vacancies in local and regional national front groups whose members have resigned or been fired in the growing purge.

The government radio carried an account of what happened at Hradcany Palace today. It said Gottwald promised the president his government would be "constitutional, democratic and parliamentary," and that he thanked Benes "for your confidence."

"You're friend of the president said last night, but he told Gottwald said this new government had only evil results and that he yielded to Communist pressure only because he feared civil war."

"You're talking to me like Hitler," this informant said, the president as telling Gottwald.

The government radio—like other propaganda outlets now completely in the hands of the Communists—said the president told Gottwald at his swearing in ceremony he wished "that your way will be successful and happy."

Gottwald was said to have thanked Benes and replied: "I attempt to split the government into a wildcat against the interests of the people. The people wanted to throw out the traitors."

Jail Newsmen for Contempt of Court

Newburgh, N. Y., Feb. 27 —(AP)—The news editor and a reporter for the Newburgh News were fined $100 each and sentenced to ten days in jail today for contempt in refusing to tell an Orange county grand jury where they obtained "numbers" lottery tickets reproduced in the paper.

The news editor, Douglas V. Clarke, 33, and the reporter, Charles L. Leonard, 27, refused to disclose their sources because "it would violate a confidence, and in the newspaper business a confidence is a sacred thing."

Justice Flannery told the grand jury Wednesday and Leonard Thursday.

They were taken before Supreme Court Justice J. Gordon Flannery. At the suggestion of District Attorney Stanley B. Johnson the transcript of their testimony was read. Judge Flannery called to the stand to answer the question as to the source of the tickets, and each refused.

The "numbers" tickets, each bearing a set of figures, allegedly are sold in a lottery based on a special set of figures in the daily U. S. Treasury Bulletin.

The two lottery tickets were reproduced in the newspaper in connection with a series of articles on alleged gambling and vice in Newburgh.

Justice Flannery told the newspapermen they regretted having sentenced them, because it would have to go on their records.

However, he said if they believed they were doing the right thing, there was nothing more to do but take the action they had added that he was left no choice under the law but to punish them for contempt.

Four Persons Die in Two Explosions

Little Rock, Feb. 27 —(AP)—Four persons died today and three others were injured, two critically, in explosions which destroyed two farm homes in Arkansas.

Two children perished in a blast that demolished their home near Pocahontas this morning. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Wellborn, were burned and the condition of Mrs. Wellborn was reported critical. She is in a Jonesboro hospital.

The other explosion-fire occurred at night between Batesville and Newport, southeast of Pocahontas, in Northern Arkansas. Harry R. Russell, 35, and his 3-year-old daughter, Diane, died in a Little Rock hospital this morning. Mrs. Russell, 30, was burned critically. She also is in a hospital here.

Both rural explosions were attributed to fuel being used to kindle fires.

Pocahontas was the scene of a blast Tuesday that killed one person, injured several others and leveled or damaged a number of business buildings.

Young Girls Helped Bootlegger Sell His Customers

Oklahoma City, Feb. 26 —(AP)—Police today were hot on the case of two young girls—nine and eleven—who were telephone stoggers for an Oklahoma City bootlegger.

Oklahoma still has prohibition and the local rum-runners use phones to take orders for home delivery.

The police found out about it when they went to a house to check complaints that the girls' grown-up sister was abusing her baby.

Juvenile Officers R.M. Goff and T. T. Hutchinson said the children could rattle off bootleg prices of popular brands and had been trained to jot down customers' addresses.

Moscow Turns Attention to Little Finland

Helsinki, Finland, Feb. 27 —(AP)—Tension suggesting an atmosphere of government crisis pervaded Finland today with the announcement that Moscow has sent Helsinki a proposal for a new treaty.

The foreign ministry announced Russia has sent a letter direct to President Juho E. Paasikivi. The ministry did not say what kind of pact was intended.

A semi-official source said the letter was signed by Prime Minister Risto Rytty.

It is well known that Finnish leaders for some time have been studying closely the agreements the Soviet Union has made one after another with the Balkan countries, a network of pacts linking those countries closely to Russia.

An authoritative source said Karl August Fagerholm, speaker of parliament, would go to Stockholm perhaps to inform the Swedish government of the Russian proposal.

Diplomatic quarters said the Russian letter was "A Soviet program declaration." Reports persisted that high level discussions were under way in the Finnish government concerning a "new development in Russian-Finnish relations."

The cabinet met with the president this morning. His discussions with the cabinet, the president had met for hours yesterday with his foreign relations committee and members of his government.

Ever since the Communist success in Czechoslovakia, rumors have spread swiftly in this country concerning relations with Russia.

Informed sources said they believe the Soviet letter asks for some kind of friendship or mutual defense pact, or both, with the Finns. Such a pact has been discussed previously many times, the Finns themselves taking the initiative shortly after the Armistice in September, 1944.

VFW Auxiliary Hear State Officers

At its regular meeting February 26, the Ramsey-Caville Post 4511 of Hope and the Ladies Auxiliary, in a joint session at the VFW but on Highway 67 just east of Hope, heard the State Commander, State Adjutant and Quartermaster, the State Service Officer and a representative of the Veterans Administration. The Auxiliary is a vital part of the organization and that its cooperation is necessary to continued success. He urged all veterans to take an active part in veterans activities, regardless of which organization they may see fit to join.

E. E. Watson, State Adjutant and Quartermaster, reviewed the part the VFW has played in securing veterans benefits and stressed the need for close cooperation of the veteran and his organization.

State Service Officer, William Smith, gave a report on Service Posts throughout the State and discussed veterans benefits. Mr. Smith invited any veteran who has a claim and need help to contact him, in person or by letter, at the Federal Building in Little Rock, and assured the veteran that his claim will receive prompt attention.

Joseph B. Theobolt of the Veterans Administration told the group about the benefits of National Service Life Insurance and how it may be converted to a peace-time policy to suit the needs of the individual. For further information along this line, it was suggested that the veteran contact his local Veterans Administration representative, Thomas Booker, at the courthouse.

This Is Better Than Germany

It's many a moon since these immigrants from German Displaced Persons camps enjoyed such a meal. They're some of the 400 DP's who recently arrived at St. Paul's Hotel, near Montreal, to take up new and happier lives in Canada. With the help of the government, they are guaranteed homes and a year's employment at prevailing wages.

Vet Office Here to Be Closed

The Veterans Administration office at Hope, Arkansas, will be closed effective March 30, 1948, as a part of the general consolidation of services, James A. Winn, National Manager, Veterans Administration at Little Rock, announced today.

According to Mr. Winn, the closing of this office is a part of a general reduction in VA installations throughout the country to reduce expenditures to those available. Three other offices are being closed in the Arkansas Region: Searcy, Camden and Mena.

Mr. Winn pointed out that, in accordance with the policy of bringing advice and assistance to veterans wherever possible within limits of available funds, service to veterans in this area would be continued from the VA office located at Arkadelphia, Arkansas, and that itinerant service schedules would be announced later.

The VA office located at the courthouse, Hope, Arkansas, has been under the supervision of Thomas J. Booker, officer in charge.

Sun Valley Is Summer Resort, Too

Motion pictures of famous Sun Valley resort in Idaho were shown Hope Rotary club at its luncheon meeting at Hotel Barlow today noon. Walter J. Critchfield, Jr., president of the club, presented the film, which was produced for Union Pacific railroad in splendid color.

Contrary to popular notion Sun Valley is a summer as well as a winter resort, and this film was of Summer sports rather than skiing.

Guests at today's luncheon: Rev. C. H. Smith and O. B. Rogers of Granite City, Ill.; Rev. H. Paul Holdridge and Dr. Elbert Wilkes of Hope; Dr. O. H. Snyder of Catfishburg, Ky.; E. H. Drum of Little Rock and D. H. Goldman of Shreveport.

Operators Are Now Thinking Over Plan to Set Their Own Coal Mines on Fire

By HAL BOYLE
Wilkes-Barre, Pa. — (AP)—The coal people are thinking of setting their mines on fire.

Some of the operators are burning the mines to get rid of them. They are burning the mines to get rid of them. They are burning the mines to get rid of them.

It sounds zany, but it's a real possibility. The big question is whether the fires can be controlled to get what they want—gas from which they can make synthetic fuels.

Wild fires have been a costly problem here in the Wyoming valley, heart of the nation's concentrated hard coal fields since 1872. More than a decade ago it was estimated that in this valley area alone $12,000,000 had been spent fighting underground fires.

Still burning is the famous red rock fire, a subterranean 400-acre "burning giant." Despite a steep curved road where 40 years ago 30,000 people used to crowd to watch Ralph De Palma and Barney Oldfield in annual hill climb races.

In 1914 a miner's lamp set fire to overhead timbers in the Red Ash mine. Since then some four million tons of high-grade coal have gone up in sulphurous smoke from this uncontrollable blaze.

That represents almost one tenth as much anthracite as has been produced in the United States in some years. And the smoke still rolls up from the long-deserted shafts, turning the countryside into a stricken rocky desert where no grass grows and no birds sing. Hundreds of men have fought and failed to quell this fire.

"It was burning when I came here said one veteran mining engineer. "I don't live to see it out. It'll burn on forever, and a day. It'll never burn out."

To him and other residents here this deep invisible fire has an awe-inspiring and eternal quality, a symbol of man's frustration before a power he cannot curb.

Mine fires are all but impossible to put out. But it is easy to start them. In the anthracite industry laboratory here a portion of the $1,000,000 the industry spends each year on research is being devoted to see just how mine fires do burn.

"If we learn that we may find out whether they can be controlled to get the results we want," said Dr. H. C. Johnson, research director who has built a model mine in the laboratory for test purposes.

Johnson believes that when the nation's supply of natural gas is exhausted burning coal mines will become the cheapest way to produce synthetic gas—fuel which can be made gasoline, Diesel oil, alcohol, waxes, medicines and other products. "Mining is the big expense at present," he said. "If we can get the gas without mining it, we can obtain the synthetic gas at low cost."

There is still another advantage to burning the coal in the mines, but Johnson didn't mention it.

Nobody has to haul out the ashes.

George Visions Democratic Party Shakeup

By JACK BELL
Washington, Feb. 27 —(AP)—A shakeup in the embattled Democratic party after the presidential election was predicted today by Senator George (D-Ga.).

Without passing on President Truman's chances in November, George said he believes Southern opponents of Mr. Truman's civil rights program are going to have a great deal to say about the future complexion of their party.

As he spoke Dixie Democrats fought a delaying action in Congress against enactment of the civil rights plan. But in the Southern States themselves, the drive to elect Mr. Truman's name on the official ballot gained momentum.

"I think that as a result of this 1948 campaign we will have a chance to reorganize the Democratic party on a basis of sound economic and good government principles," the Georgia senator told a reporter.

"I myself would be quite content to become a member of a minority party, so long as that party is based on sound principles. If it is, it will not remain the minority party for long."

But he said he was "not interested" in any move to make him a "favorite son" candidate for the presidential nomination.

Several Southern lawmakers said privately they don't care if Mr. Truman is beaten by a Republican in November. Many are looking to 1952 for a division of political sentiment along with the describe as conservative and liberal lines.

But none of them thought much of a proposal by Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich) that the Republicans put up a candidate whose opposition to Mr. Truman's anti-communist, anti-Jew, anti-negro discrimination and anti-Jim Crow proposals would make him acceptable to the South.

Worker For Truman Is Indicted

Chicago, Feb. 27 —(AP)—Paul Dillon, St. Louis attorney and one-time campaign manager for President Truman, has been served with a subpoena to testify before a federal grand jury investigating the parolés of four former Capone gangsters.

This was announced today by Otto Kerner, Jr., United States district attorney in Chicago. FBI agents said Mr. Dillon, 41, was at work a long time on his bill before the president's program was disclosed.

The most important difference is that Mr. Truman's calls for government housing, and not private construction by private industry. McCarthy's bill does not include public housing.

The Wisconsin Republican believes such a program should be handled, if at all, in separate legislation.

Senator Taft (Ohio), chairman of the Senate Republican policy committee, differed with McCarthy. He told a reporter that if McCarthy's bill came up for Senate debate, he will offer a public housing amendment.

Taft is a co-sponsor of the Taft-Elliott-Wagner long range housing bill, which already is on the Senate calendar. It has a housing provision which has been assailed by the building industry.

Taft has said he is determined to have Congress pass a housing bill this session. He stated today the Republican leadership has not decided which bill will be taken up.

Negro Club Leaders Attend Meet

The Tractor Maintenance School for negro 4-H club leaders was held yesterday at Yerger High School. The program was under the direction of the Agricultural Extension Service and sponsored by the Standalone Oil Company of Tulsa, Oklahoma. Instructors were James L. Gattis, Extension Agricultural Engineer, L. L. Rutledge, Assistant State 4-H Club Agent, and W. A. Jones, Service Manager for International Harvester Company in Arkansas.

Plans for the entire program were worked out by Oliver L. Adams, County Agricultural Agent, in cooperation with James Harris, Superintendent of Negro Schools. Twenty-six negro 4-H Club leaders with six negro assistant county agents representing seven different counties of Southwest Arkansas were in attendance to secure detailed information on Safety, Oil Filters, Air Cleaners, Carburetors, Lubrication, Tires, and Operation. Each of these leaders will go back into their respective counties and teach their 4-H Club boys and girls the fundamentals of tractor maintenance.

In television, each individual picture is drawn by light in about one-thirtieth of a second.

Action on Farm Prices Checked to Congress

Washington, Feb. 27 —(AP)—The Democratic administration today checked to the Republican Congress the problem of what to do about supporting farm prices after December 31.

Unless Congress acts in the meantime, price supports for many farm commodities will be ended on that date.

The prospect might become an important issue in farm groups in the coming presidential campaign. Secretary of Agriculture Anderson outlined the administration's position in letters to Senator Caperton and Rep. Hope, Kansas Republicans who head the Senate and House Agriculture Committees.

Anderson wrote that he had asked Congress more than a year ago to pass new price support legislation, but that it had failed to do so. He said he does not want to take the responsibility for saying what those policies should be after the present law expires.

That law makes most farm products eligible for price supports at not less than 90 per cent of parity until the end of this year. Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices so they will be equally fair to producers and consumers.

After January 1 the government is required to support crops like corn, wheat, cotton, tobacco, rice, and peanuts at between 52 and 75 per cent of parity. It has permission to support others, but is not required to do so.

Arabs Threaten U. S. With Oil Deal Cancellations

Cairo, Feb. 26 —(AP)—The Arab League has warned that "all Arab states" will cancel their oil concessions to the United States if the U. S. keeps pushing Palestine partition, a league source said today.

The informant said the warning was given in a note sent to Washington yesterday. He said it threatened cancellation of the concessions if the U. S. "continues to use its influence in the (United Nations) security council to partition Palestine."

The note, the source added, was sent in accordance with a decision reached by the seven-nation league in its recent Cairo session.

The league includes Saudi Arabia, where the Arabian-American Oil Company is developing vast oil deposits. The Arabian field is the largest single oil supplier of the U. S. Navy.

New Housing Plan Before Committee

Washington, Feb. 27 —(AP)—A housing program that would cost the government about $1,000,000,000 in the first five years was laid before a congressional committee today.

Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) presented the draft of a proposed bill to the House-Senate Housing Committee. He is vice chairman.

The measure is intended to encourage the construction of 1,500,000 new homes a year for the next decade. A big share would be homes for rent to low income families.

To attract investors to construction of this type of dwelling, the bill guarantees a profit of from about 3 1/2 to 5 percent a year.

If the investor built homes or apartments to rent for less than $50 in cities of 500,000 or larger population, and less than $40 in smaller cities, there would be these additional inducements:

1. The income from such projects would be exempt from income tax.
2. A total of 50 percent depreciation for tax purposes—against other income—would be permitted.
3. Local communities would be called upon to give aid in the form of land, materials, tax concessions and cash.

If that program has not produced several hundred thousand low rental houses a year from now, I'll buy you each a steak," McCarthy told reporters.

McCarthy added, however, that he will not introduce the bill in three days. He said he had been at work a long time on his bill before the president's program was disclosed.

The most important difference is that Mr. Truman's calls for government housing, and not private construction by private industry. McCarthy's bill does not include public housing.

The Wisconsin Republican believes such a program should be handled, if at all, in separate legislation.

Senator Taft (Ohio), chairman of the Senate Republican policy committee, differed with McCarthy. He told a reporter that if McCarthy's bill came up for Senate debate, he will offer a public housing amendment.

Home Clubs Hold Meet at Courthouse

Better methods of performing jobs at the office was the general discussion at a training course held February 25 at the courthouse in Hope. Home Demonstration Club members, Miss Mary Dixon, Home Demonstration Agent, and their guest leader, Miss Eula Nell Edwards, Assistant Extension Editor of Little Rock, were the participants in the talks.

During the morning Miss Edwards gave a talk to club reporters on making eye catching news reports which could be both interesting and useful to the point. Five main rules were given as a basis, which are the five vitamins that should be used by a good reporter—Be quick, Be right, Be different, Be neat, and Be there.

Miss Dixon met with secretaries and vice-presidents of the clubs in the afternoon. She discussed the good points of each club and then how the responsibilities should be for all members and not for just the few who take the lead. Ways to increase membership were given and emphasized.

Projects for the year such as money raising, making pajamas for the Crippled Children's Home in Little Rock, and plans for Home Demonstration Week in May were also discussed.

Fourteen members from 10 Home Demonstration Clubs attended the meeting.

Negro Civic Group Elects a Park Commission

In a meeting held at Hick's Funeral Home last night the Negro Civic League elected the following men on the park commission: R. A. Hicks, C. H. Yerger, E. B. Stuart, Harvey Washington and Pike Wilson.

These men are to work out plans to develop the site that was recently purchased for a park in the Oaklawn Addition. Plans discussed to raise money to purchase equipment, landscaping, and fence.

The women members are sponsoring a bazaar at the McManis home on Wednesday night, March 3. All proceeds will go to the Park Fund.

A complete list of all donors will be published soon. The body also discussed the recent improvements in the Negro sections.

Committee Cuts Funds for U. S. Departments

Washington, Feb. 27 —(AP)—The House Appropriations Committee today cut $84,417,189 from the $597,337,431 President Truman asked for the State Justice and Commerce Departments and the federal courts.

This represents a total cut of 17 per cent. By agencies, however, the reductions range from 28 per cent for the Commerce Department to less than one per cent for the Justice Department.

The money is for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Here are the amounts the committee recommended in the bill it sent to the House for debate next week:

State: $97,217,463, a cut of $17,101,068, or eight per cent. The budget of the "Voice of America" was cut from $2,276,900 to $2,000,000. Justice: $116,330,700, a cut of only $591,300. The FBI received the full $43,900,000 it asked, and the anti-trust division was given $181,700 more than the $3,500,000 it sought. The money called for more action against "anti-trust" activities, particularly as they refer to food, clothing and shelter.

Commerce: $171,087,000, a cut of $65,755,500.

Federal judiciary: $18,785,100, a cut of $968,300, or five per cent.

The $503,420,263 total compares with $632,109,352 given the same agencies for the present year.

In addition to the direct appropriations, the bill includes $400,000 in contract authority—that is, the right to contract for things which will be paid for later.

Of this authority, $37,000,000 is for the federal airport program, $12,000,000 for establishment of air navigation facilities, and $26,000,000 for Philippine rehabilitation work.

In a formal report accompanying the bill, the committee said its investigators found in State Department files the employment histories of 1,175 present and prospective employees indicated to be poor risks.

The committee said the department was not being "as diligent as it might have been" in selecting personnel, and said committee investigators found the employees of "questionable loyalty remain uninvestigated."

Of the 1,175 cases cited, 400 involved a "high ranking" official and an alleged leak of information to Moscow in 1945. The State Department denied this.

Russia May 'Incorporate' Few Satellites

Washington, Feb. 27 — (UP) — State Department experts predicted today that Russia's next step toward "consolidation" of eastern Europe may be incorporation of some satellites into the USSR.

These experts base their prediction partly on diplomatic reports from western Europe indicating that such a course may have been set by Soviet leaders.

Such a development probably would not occur until after the spring elections in such countries as Czechoslovakia and perhaps after moves to convert Finland into a totally Communist-controlled state.

The United States, Britain and France are trying to stiffen the back of western Europe in the face of the Communist coup d'etat in Czechoslovakia and the prospects of Red threats elsewhere.

In an unusual statement the three great western powers denounced the new Czechoslovak government as a "disguised dictatorship" of the Communist party which was imposed on the country by an "artificially and deliberately instigated" crisis.

One of the signatories of that statement — France — probably is high on the list for renewed Communist agitation and trouble this spring. France and Italy are expected to be major targets for Communist unrest.

American officials admit that a statement, however strong, is only slight encouragement to peoples confronted with Communist pressures. Therefore, they expressed the hope that events in Czechoslovakia would strengthen support for the Marshall plan in Congress.

"Brazen and contemptible," were the words Democratic National Chairman J. Howard McGrath used to assail Hoffman's proposal.

"The Republican party once pillaged the prostrate South," he said. "I do not think that today the Republican party will find a strong and healthy South selling itself back into the hands of the party which ravished it."

Hoffman found little support in the Republican camp for his idea either. Carroll Reece, chairman of the GOP National committee said in a statement:

"It is not the function of the national committee to comment on statements made by individual members of the party in Congress."

Meanwhile, GOP leaders prepared to push ahead with legislation they confidently hope will make the Dixie members so thoroughly angry that they will not return later and return to the National Democratic ranks in November.

Although House action was delayed on the anti-lynching bill until next week, the Senate prepared to take up another measure equally opposed by the South.

Senator Brooks (R-Ill.) precluded a Senate Rules subcommittee would approve today a House-approved bill to ban poll taxes which are now collected in seven Southern states.

Brooks said that if present plans are carried out, the measure will be approved by the full committee next week for Senate debate.

Tabernacle Revival Starts Sunday Feb. 29

Rev. Oscar Rogers

The Pre-Easter Revival begins Sunday, Feb. 29, with the morning service at the Gospel Tabernacle. Evangelists Clarence Smith and Oscar Rogers of Granite City, Illinois have been secured for this revival. They come to Hope with a series of highly successful revivals all over the nation to their credit. Last Sunday night they closed a three weeks revival in Dallas, and they preceded this with a campaign in Fort Worth, Texas. They go from Hope to Flint, Michigan for their next Revival.

Rev. Smith is a forceful, earnest, straight-forward gospel preacher. He, with Rev. Rogers very ably sing duets. Rev. Rogers directs the singing and does personal and altar work during the services.

The two form an unusually competent gospel team having worked together for sixteen years. They came to Hope on Tuesday afternoon for a few days of relaxation before the beginning service Sunday morning, February 29.

Services will be conducted each evening at 7:30, excepting Saturday evening, 8:00. The pastor and congregation of the Gospel Tabernacle that Hope has not had opportunity to hear better qualified, sound, seasoned evangelists than the Smith Rogers duo. They take pleasure in most cordially inviting the entire population of Hope and the surrounding communities to attend this "March to God in March" revival.

and wanted an assurance of a people's democracy. You, Mr. President, helped dissolve the crisis."

Meanwhile, the Legionnaires of World War I came under fire. Josef David chairman of parliament and a National Socialist of the old regime is their leader. Bones is honorary commander of the Legionnaires.

Veterans of World War II criticized the older veterans as having wavered during the political crisis, and demanded they be excluded from government activity. David's group had sought to take part in the action committees. David long has been a confidant of Bones.

Last night the government radio announced 30 professors, deans and 600 students were fired from the University of Education said today the firing was not permanent. The professors, it said were sacked because of their party affiliations, but their academic qualifications will be reviewed.

Action committees in one Prague district began seizing lodgings and turning them over to families of workers.

Other action committees hit at the Boy Scouts and the Girl Guides; took over Bohemian distilleries and nationalization; fired two National Socialists from the government radio station.

The chief Girl Guide, Vlasta Josefová, resigned her post.

The cabinet crisis arose when 12 anti-Communist ministers submitted their resignations last Friday to protest an order of the Communist interior ministry affecting the state security police.

Gottwald, the radio reported, told Bones, "I am sure that parliament will acknowledge this government too."

Hew was quoted as saying he rejected the criticism "of the foreign countries which were responsible for Munich."

"We have demonstrated to the whole world the principles of democracy," the broadcast said the premier told the president. There was no longer mention anywhere of a radio statement by the president as promised earlier in the week.

An international Boy scout group was ordered dissolved. It included American boys and other children, chiefly sons of diplomats. Unconfirmed reports were that the Chief Scout, a Dr. Plajnar was under arrest.

State Police Capture Three Iowa Convicts

Blytheville, Feb. 27 — (AP) — Three unnamed convicts who walked away from the Iowa prison farm were captured by an Arkansas Highway patrolman near here today.

The three were held in the Mississippi county jail here pending arrival of Iowa officers. They were identified as:

Clifford Bouslaugh, 23, serving 25 years for conspiracy; Pete Smith, 21, serving 10 years for car theft and a previous prison escape; and Russell Crews, 23, serving eight years for aggravated assault and parole violation.

The state patrolman, C. E. Montgomery, preparing to stop and investigate, flashed his spotlight on the Pontiac and saw two men wearing striped prison uniforms. He ordered them to get out of the car and the man inking with the license plate to join them. All three were ordered to lie on the ground while the patrolman, pistol in hand, radioed state police district headquarters at Forrest City to summon aid from Blytheville.

Mississippi county and Blytheville City officers responded and brought the trio to Blytheville.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

Chicago, Feb. 27 —(P)—A late rally cancelled practically all early losses on the board of trade today. Wheat and corn ended mixed, with price changes small, while atas secured modest gains.

Prices dropped as much as 4 1-2 cents at the start. Rains over wide area of the southwestern winter wheat belt caused the early selling. Wheat and the decline, but corn and oats also were weak.

about 30 minutes before the close a rally got underway. Flour mills were credited with being buyers of wheat, the first sign of any substantial buying by mills in several years. Trading became active on the rally.

NEW YORK COTTON

New York, Feb. 27 — (P) — Cotton futures were irregular in slow dealings today. Scattered liquidation induced by expectations of a lower mid-February cotton parity and the issuance of 33 additional March transferable notices led to losses extending to 11.50 a bale. However, the market recovered on short covering and small mill buying.

New York, Feb. 27 —(P)— Cotton futures turned firm following early weakness today. March contracts covering by mills and short covering by locals met only limited offerings.

In early dealings the market was lower on scattered liquidation, influenced by expectations of a decline in the mid-February cotton parity and issuance of 33 additional March transferable notices.

NEW YORK STOCKS

New York, Feb. 27 — (P) — Stocks generally operated on the minus side of today's market but not price was lacking.

Light selling ruled from the start as little of an outstanding bullish attitude was found in the news. Timid support arrived in the final hour. Initial losses running to a point where more than 100 departments were reduced or erased at the close. Declines, however, were plentiful. Transfers for the full proceedings were of the neighborhood of 750,000 shares.

conclusions after a long study of capitalist economies and their post-war outlook. He was assigned this task by the Russian Communist Party. His study and similar ones by western economists seem to have been the basis for the Soviet-American discussion of reconstruction loans to Russia, before relations between the two government reached their present unhappy state.

The disquieting thing is that Dr. Varga has lost his high post in the Soviet Academy of Sciences for saying the same thing that Mr. Stalin said in a well-publicized interview with Harold Stassen. In fact, Mr. Stalin's words were quoted to the American press by the new Russian ambassador to this country the day after Mr. Lissner's story appeared. The Stalin statement was that Russia and the United States "certainly can co-operate with one another. The difference (in economic system) between them is of no substantial importance since the matter in question is their co-operation."

The Russians may argue that the U. S. does not want to co-operate. But that does not cancel Mr. Stalin's statement that the difference in systems is no bar to co-operation.

The most cheerful interpretation of this incident is that the Varga findings are out of line with Soviet propaganda. The Stalin-Stassen interview may or may not have been printed in the Russian press. We don't know. But Dr. Varga's views were contained in a book that was available to the Russian public.

Dr. Lissner's information is that Dr. Varga refused to say his views were wrong, even when he was called on the carpet. But his opinion that capitalism was not tottering and that a showdown was not inevitable ran counter to the present party line. So he had to be branded as "wrong."

The other interpretation is that the Soviet government has decided, against good economic advice, that it will not co-operate with capitalism. Such a course is senseless and dangerous. But, unhappily, the trend of Russian policy, unless it is largely bluff, supports the second interpretation.

shares the view of those three countries and "considers that satisfaction should be given the request of the above-mentioned states for consultation between the occupying powers in Germany and the governments of other United Nations on the German question."

The notes mentioned the Potsdam declaration. "Poland, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia," they said, "are among those powers which are particularly interested of peace and the security of the peoples."

Diplomatic officials said here last night Czechoslovakia's passing under Communist rule may help western efforts to use Germany's economy in the Marshall plan.

JAMES "Uncle Mac" MacKRELL OPENS CAMPAIGN FOR GOVERNOR at HOPE MONDAY, March 1st. CITY HALL AUDITORIUM, 7:30 P. M.

Uncle Mac's Quartet

Uncle Mac's KLRA Radio Quartet will appear in concert!

HERE ARE EIGHT REASONS why you will get more, have more and keep more if you will let me work for you as Governor:

- You will get Constitutional Government. You will have a clean, honest government that gives you every right guaranteed by the Constitution.
- You will get Home Rule in your own county and town, without any interference from Little Rock, and I will do my best to protect you from interference out of Washington.
- You will save many of your hard-earned dollars because I will set up an honest central purchasing department that will buy all of the supplies and materials used by the State and through One Office, and I will install a simple bookkeeping system so that you can find out at any time where every penny of tax money comes from and where it was spent by the Legislature and there will be no spending by department heads.
- You will get the best road system in the Nation. You will have every mile of every State road blacktopped and every mile of every route will be graded, gravelled and made an all-weather road.
- You will get the Best School System in the Nation. You will keep your county schools. I will personally see that Arkansas teachers are the highest paid in the Nation; there will not be a single school district in debt; and every elementary and high school will have a uniform, standard course of study.
- You know that I will see that our Old Folks, our Sick, Blind and Crippled are cared for as humanely as possible. I'll build you the Greatest Medical School in the Nation, with ten district hospitals out over the State, whereby you can get the medical attention you need. I'll make the State Hospital at Benton and at Little Rock a real hospital and not the prison that it is at present.
- You will get a Real Home Demonstration Club in every community with a club house where you can quit and can your home produce and I'll arrange a system whereby farm wives can sell their surplus canned goods and handmade goods, bringing additional cash to every small farm home.
- You will get at least two years of honest Government. All of our lives you have heard of crooked and corrupt politicians. If you really want honest government, give me the job of working for you.

"There isn't a human being living in this State that will do more for you than I will do, if YOU will just give me the opportunity"—UNCLE MAC.

THE STORY: Terror-stricken Ann Bancroft is convinced someone in her own household is trying to murder her and make it appear an accident. The household includes her husband Rush, a bacteriologist; Gay, Rush's attractive young lab assistant; Laurie, Ann's headstrong 19-year-old sister; Tommy, Laurie's fiancé; and Rinda, Ann's old friend and houseguest. Ann has just narrowly escaped asphyxiation from the gas fireplace in her room during the night. Rush says she can thank Rinda for her rescue.

XIII

It was morning and she was alone again with the fear. It was like a cocoon wrapped tightly around her, isolating her, suffocating her even as she breathed.

She was aware that they were all being kind to her, that they were deliberately ignoring last night and what had happened. They talked instead about Rinda's going into Cleveland for a few days to visit Don Allison's aunt, and whether Gay wanted to take her vacation in July or August.

She went directly to the front porch after she finished her breakfast. She wanted to get away from them.

She pulled her chair around so that its back was to the wall of the house; sitting in it she would see anyone approaching her from any direction. That was idiotic of her, she realized even as she pulled the chair around. This death of hers was going to look like an accident. There would be no suggestion of murder.

The maids and the cook had returned by bus this morning and the big house had resumed its steady routine pace, almost as though nothing had happened during the night. As though murders had not stalked through the upstairs halls.

Rinda opened the porch door and came out. She was dressed for her trip into Cleveland. She wore a navy blue suit with red lizard accessories. It was a beautiful tailored suit. Rinda looked smart. And only the fine lines about her eyes betrayed the strain of last night.

"Are you all right, Ann?" she asked. "Do you want anything?" "Not a thing," Ann said firmly. "I'm fine. Are you ready to go?"

Rinda nodded, began pulling on her short white cotton gloves. "Tommy and Laurie said they'd take me to the station . . . Ann, everyone seems to be occupied now so I thought it was a good time for us to talk." She smiled, but there was a hint of uneasiness about her. "We do have to talk, you know."

"We do not," Ann said. The words sounded harsh and flat but she wasn't sorry. She really didn't want to talk about Rinda and Don and Kelly Winton and Bob.

"Oh, yes, we do," Rinda said. "I didn't know what I was saying last night," Ann said. "I don't remember."

"Of course you do. Don't be silly, Ann, there's no reason why you shouldn't know the whole story. You see, after we left school, I simply couldn't forget it. It preyed on my mind, gave me no peace. I knew there was something I should do. For a long time I didn't know what it was. I came to see me. He'd been to the Allison. He'd had a long talk with them. And as soon as I told me I realized that it was what I should have done."

"So I went," her voice was low. "It wasn't easy. I was scared silly. But they were splendid people—charming—I felt—"

"It was a fine thing to do, Rinda. It took courage."

Rinda shrugged that aside. "I should have done it long before."

"And did you meet Don then?"

"Oh, no. No, he telephoned me—ch, it was years later—when he was in New York one evening. It was before he'd come there to work. We had dinner." The lovely rose color swept upward in her face. "You'll like Don."

"I'm sure of it, Rinda," Ann's heart thudded briefly and then she said, stiffly self-conscious, "either I don't know exactly how to go about it—I've never thanked anyone before for saving my life—"

"And I can't just say, 'Oh, it was nothing,' can I?" Rinda was self-conscious too. "I'm very glad I woke up."

"How did you, Rinda? I haven't heard—I don't even know what time it happened."

Rinda looked uneasy again. "It—"

"Oh, come now," Ann said. She watched Rinda with composure but the palms of her hands were wet. She had to make Rinda talk—she had to know why it hurt to talk about it. . . . Rinda said, doubtfully, "It's all very simple, really. I'd gone to my room ages before. I wrote letters and did my nails. I wasn't sleepy when I turned off my light but I guess I dozed off for awhile. And then I woke, something woke me up. I sort of jerked awake—you know how you do?"

Ann nodded. "I don't know whether I'd actually heard anything—an actual sound, I mean, but there I was, wide awake. I got up and got a cigarette and prowled around my room. I was restless—I couldn't get settled—and of course there wasn't a thing in my room to read."

"So you started out to find something and smelled the gas?"

Rinda opened her mouth and then closed it again. The uneasy look was back on her face and then she said, "Yes, yes, that's the way it was."

Ann could feel new pulses springing up all over her body. That wasn't the way it was. Rinda had been going to say something else and then Ann's words had changed her mind.

Wedding Frills

Dear Dorothy Dix: My daughter, 17 years old, has just announced to me that she is not going to return to college to finish even her first year there, and that she is going to be married, and she insists upon having a church wedding. We are people of very modern means and as we had considerable expense with her high school graduation last June, then getting her off to college in September, we do not feel that we can financially afford a wedding at this time though we would like to make her as happy as possible under the circumstances.

Will you please suggest the most informal and inexpensive church service that we might have that would be free from the criticism of the small town in which we live?

MOTHER

Answer: If your daughter wanted a church wedding because it gives her an added solemnity to the marriage ceremony for a man and woman to make their vows to cleave unto each other in sickness and health, for richer for poorer, it would be a mere matter of stepping around to the nearest church of their faith, with a few friends or relatives, and there have their clergyman say over them the most solemn words that human ears ever hear.

Simple Ceremony Economized It would cost only a few dollars, for there would be no flummery of white satin and tulle veils and bridal attendants and music and flowers, etc.

But your 17-year-old daughter isn't considering the solemnity of the occasion. She is thinking of how beautiful she is going to look in a bridal gown, and there is no way of doing that cheaply. Even home wedding runs into money, and the father is indulging her for the wedding finery and the decorations and the refreshments he is burdened with debts.

It is easy to say how silly girls are to want a swanky wedding that can't afford and how weak old parents are to indulge their daughters in their folly, but I don't know. From the time every girl baby can plan at all, she is dreaming about walking up the church aisle in white satin and orange blossoms, while everybody ohs and ahs about what a lovely bride she makes.

It is the one great moment of her life. Often it is the last one. But it is the one thing she remembers through all the years of cooking and washing and baby-tending, and maybe it is worth what it costs.

Dear Miss Dix: I am a girl of 17 and I have never done anything in my life to be ashamed of. I respect my parents in every way, but I have an old-fashioned father who will not permit me to have any of my boy friends come to the house. Every time a boy comes to my home to pick me up to take me out my father yells at me and tells me to break away, and that he is going to kick him out of the door next time he comes.

This has gotten on my nerves so bad that I feel they are jumping out of my body. Is it right for my father to treat me this way?

A VERY NERVOUS GIRL

Answer: It is not only wrong, but shows that your father is not using his judgment and common sense. For he must know that a pretty young girl is going to have dates and boy friends, and that if she cannot have her company in her own home and with the knowledge and approval of her parents, she will do it on the sly and goodness knows where, with goodness knows whom.

Probably your father thinks he is protecting you when he keeps you from going with boys, but, in reality, he is throwing you to the wolves. Tell him to have a heart and also some commonsense.

'Body and Soul', Dramatic Story of a Fighter, Starts Sunday

John Garfield Heads Cast in Saenger Feature

Enterprise Studios' "Body and Soul" opens at the Saenger theater Sunday through United Artists release. The fourth picture Enterprise has made since its inception one year ago, the film stars John Garfield and Lilli Palmer and introduces the new Hollywood sensation, Hazel Brooks, in the part of the "other woman."

Based on an original screenplay by Abraham Polansky, the story traces the ups and downs of a successful middleweight fighter, enhanced with managers and gamblers, of dubious reputation and the "other woman" between his childhood sweetheart and a designing nightclub entertainer for his heart and soul.

"Body and Soul" is Garfield's first independent venture and the second American film the Austrian-born English star, Lilli Palmer, has made, her first having been "Love and Lullaby" opposite Betty Cooper.

The supporting cast is headed by prominent stage and radio personalities who have succeeded to the lure of Hollywood, among them Anne Keever, Art Smith, John H. Evers, Lloyd Goff and Lilli Palmer. The picture is produced by Lilli Palmer, who has been a leading actress in the Broadway theater since 1934, and since 1937, when she was married to the late Laurence Olivier.

And one of the original Gold-diggers, Genevieve, once named as Hollywood's most beautiful woman, was persuaded to return to the cameras to do a specialty number—dancing on a chair in a rumbustious sequence.

James Wong Howe, one of the industry's top-ranking cinematographers, supervised the photography and Lilli Palmer herself, noted Hollywood designer, personally created the wardrobe (extending over a 20-year span) for Miss Palmer and Miss Brooks.

In making the picture, 50,000 feet of film representing most of the championship fights since the Dempsey-Carpenter title bout at Boyle's Thirty Acres in Jersey City in 1921 were used for review by Garfield so he could develop an individualistic style and yet resemble a potential champion. Enterprise also took out a $250,000 policy on the star's face and hands since so much of the rehearsing and performance was of a bruising nature.

"Body and Soul" was directed by Robert Rosen and produced for Enterprise by Bob Roberts. So far Enterprise has produced "Ramrod" and "The Other Love," both distinctive films in their fields, and following "Body and Soul" will release the long-heralded "Arch of Triumph."

Absorbing Czech Nation Is One of Greatest Successes Moscow Can Boast to Date

By DeWITT MacKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

So democratic little Czechoslovakia has gone the way of all countries upon which bolshevism has managed to obtain a firm grip.

Czechoslovakia's absorption is one of Moscow's greatest successes. As the London News Chronicle pointed out a few hours before the coup was achieved, if the Communists gained complete control in Czechoslovakia it would be their most important victory in Europe, because out of all their conquests the Czechs would be the first with an insubstantial belief in western democratic freedom. Well, bolshevism reigns in freedom-loving Prague—at least for the time being.

President Benes, right hand to the late Dr. Tomas Masaryk, who was father of the republic, many was compelled to capitulate to Communist demands and turn the government over to red control. As he took this tragic step the presidential palace was surrounded by hundreds of soldiers and police armed with machineguns and under control of the Communist Ministry of the Interior. It was to enforce their demands the Reds had threatened a general strike.

This was followed swiftly by the coming news from the U.S. Army at Frankfurt, Germany, that a heavily armed Czech garrison had seized Czechoslovakia's western frontier.

Security police were in complete control. No Czechoslovak citizen was permitted to leave his country under any circumstances.

What could be going on behind that iron curtain? We have a right to speculate on what because of the liquidations and other horrors experienced in Poland, Hungary, Rumania and elsewhere. It is said to ask whether a "house cleaning" is projected in Czechoslovakia by the Bolsheviks.

Of course the new government which has been thrust upon the Czechs by Communist Premier Klement Gottwald is composed chiefly of Bolsheviks. Gottwald himself is one of the world's leading Communist leaders. He was one of the ten ranking Reds who signed the declaration "dissolving the Communist revolution—in 1943 to ally the hostility of the democratic world."

Gottwald now becomes one of the most important dictators of the day, for Czechoslovakia is its vastness more important than its size.

Heiress Wins First Round in Divorce Suit

By DICK SMITH

Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 27—(UP)—A dozen young Arizona socialites were called as character witnesses today to support heiress Gioia Grinditch's statement that their gay sex exchanged kisses like most people's hands.

Mrs. Grinditch's friends were rebuttal witnesses in her suit for a divorce from William H. Grinditch, Jr., and custody of their two children. Grinditch also has filed suit for divorce.

Attorneys expected arguments to be completed today. There was no indication when Judge J. Mercer Johnson would rule.

The 25-year-old great-granddaughter of railroad tycoon Jay Gould, denied that she had been intimate with other men. Grinditch had accused her of adultery.

She admitted, however, that she had "messed" with Blake Brophy, son of a Phoenix banker. She said she fell in love with Brophy in law while her husband was overseas in the army, but that she doesn't love him now.

"Our whole crowd was very affectionate," she said. "We kissed each other hello and goodbye. I was just a little more affectionate with Blake."

She said their love "just faded away."

"We both prayed it would," she said. "He always told me it would come to no good end."

Here and There in Arkansas

Little Rock, Feb. 27—(AP)—Arkansas County Judges have appealed to the supreme court the Puskas Chancery Court dismissal of their suit for $1,553.89 additional highway funds.

Ben H. Hogan, Little Rock, already had appealed from the Puskas court decision. He had intervened in the suit with the contention that the act was invalid because it "divided" highway revenues from purposes specified in the 1941 reunding law.

Chancellor Frank Dodge ruled that the counties were not entitled to the additional money but that the act did not violate the state's covenant with its highway bondholders as Hogan charged.

Hogan's counsel said he would resist efforts to consolidate the county judges' appeal with his. The Hogan appeal is scheduled for submission March 15.

Little Rock, Feb. 26—(AP)—Arkansas Governor Lancy today accused Democratic National Chairman J. Howard McGrath of giving the press an "edited" copy of remarks made at a civil rights conference in Washington this week.

Lancy referred to a conference he and four other Southern Governors held with McGrath. The gubernatorial group opposes President Truman's civil rights proposals.

owners, estimated damage to the brick building stock at from $75,000 to $100,000. The building was in flames when the fire was discovered.

The Lake Village fire department assisted local firemen in preventing the fire from spreading to the adjoining Mack Theater building.

Washington, Feb. 26—(AP)—The Rural Electrification Administration has loaned $50,000 to two Arkansas cooperative power agencies for service extensions. Loans of $25,000 each were made to the Potomac Electric Cooperative Corp., Clinton, and the Ashley-Chicot cooperative, Hamburg.

Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 27—(UP)—Police Commissioner Joe Boyle today ordered the arrest of all persons caught gambling on pinball machines. Boyle instructed police to confiscate any machines being used for gambling purposes.

Boyle's order came after five men were arrested and fined $11 each for pinball machine gambling.

Police Chief Carroll Seabrook announced that operators of cafes could expect to have their beer licenses revoked if they permit gambling on pinball machines in their establishments.

Little Rock, Feb. 27—(AP)—While the Associated Press staff in Little Rock was busy gathering details on two fatal fires in Arkansas, fire sirens screamed to a halt outside the Bureau's day office in the Arkansas Democrat building.

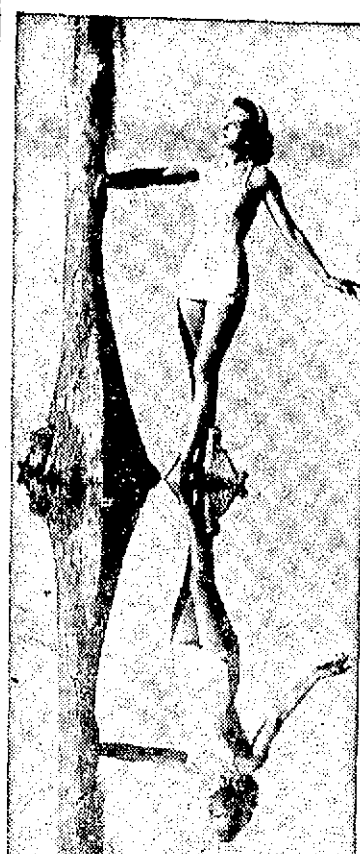

It was on the floor above the AP office in the newspaper building. Dust collected around a vent pipe on the third floor had caught fire. There was a lot of smoke, but little fire and the damage was small.

Little Rock, Feb. 27—(AP)—Dr. Harold W. Sterling said today that conversion of Ft. Roots Veterans hospital into a general service facility for both competent and incompetent patients is virtually complete.

Dr. Sterling is manager of the hospital in North Little Rock. Known mostly as a mental treatment center, Ft. Roots hospital has been expanded to include four distinct separate service institutions—hospitals for general medical and surgical care of competent and incompetent patients, and for treatment of tuberculosis and neuro-psychiatric patients.

In addition, Dr. Sterling said Ft. Roots hospital had been assigned a research project.

Army Dismisses Employees for National Security

Washington, Feb. 27—(AP)—The army said today "several" of its employees at St. Louis have been dismissed recently for reasons of national security.

They were employees of the army's administration center where records are kept, including those of former soldiers.

Army officials said "each case was carefully reviewed" before the notice of dismissal was sent to an employee. No details were given.

The action was taken under the law allowing the secretary of the army to dismiss employees summarily when evidence indicates their continued employment might endanger national security.

A discharged worker is given the right to appeal his case to the Army Department within 30 days.

The first dismissals under the law were made more than a year ago. Several employees of the army at the Aberdeen Proving Ground in Maryland were fired then.

The army said that of 111 cases submitted under the summary firing law, only 38 orders for dismissal had been issued by the army secretary. Of these, 14 were reinstated later.

Democrats in State Free to Bolt Ticket

By SAM G. HARRIS
Little Rock, Feb. 27—(AP)—Arkansas Democrats are free to ignore the democratic presidential nominee in November without acquiring the stigma of party bolters.

The Democratic state committee took care of that four years ago. The rules of "the Democratic party in Arkansas" provide that its members are not bound to support Democratic nominees in national elections. All they have to do to be good Democrats is support the party's state and district office nominees.

The ballot form for general election in Arkansas calls only for a listing of presidential electors. The names of the presidential and vice presidential nominees do not have to be printed on the ballots. Presidential electors of the Democratic and Republican parties are nominated by congressional caucuses.

Governor Tuck asked the Virginia assembly yesterday to revise the ballot form so that the voters would not be required to choose between specific nominees.

There was no discussion about the party standing of Democrats who choose not to vote for the party's standard bearer named at the forthcoming Philadelphia convention.

The discussion about party rules and ballot forms in several Southern states stemmed from opposition to President Truman's civil rights proposals. These included anti-lynching legislation, abolition of Jim Crow and poll tax, voting laws and creation of a fair employment practices commission.

Some state Democratic party rules require party members to support the regular party nominees for all offices. Some ballot forms require the listing of presidential and vice presidential nominees by name.

Arkansas Democratic party rules required members to support regular party nominees for all offices until 1944. The national party had nominated Franklin D. Roosevelt for a fourth term.

Many old line Democrats in Arkansas were not overly enthusiastic over a fourth term candidate despite the fact that a war was in progress. In fact, some of the party members were dead set against a fourth-term presidential candidate.

The party conducted its biennial state convention a few months prior to the general election and with only a smattering of dissent revised its loyalty rules. It freed anti-fourth-term members from their loyalty pledges to national party nominees.

C. Evans Daggett, Marianna attorney, was author of the amendment.

So the Arkansas Democrats are prepared for almost any political eventuality in November.
